NEAK LONG, CAMBODIA — Vietnamese refugees board an allied naval vessel which will return them to Vietnam. Several thousand refugees are being rescued by a naval flotilla which has penetrated deeper into Cambodia than any allied military operation.

June 30 Deadline Set

Laird Reveals Pullback

BULLETIN
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced Wednesday the first withdrawal of American forces from Cambodia since operations began across the border at the end of April.
The announcement said: "Elements of the 3rd Brigade, 9th Infantry Division, which commenced combined operations with civilian irregular defense group units in the tip of the Parrot's Beak on 7 May, yesterday (Tuesday) terminated their role in the operation and were withdrawn to the republic of Vietnam."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday withdrawal of American troops from Cambodia already has begun. And he added that if future operations are required in that country they will be carried out by the South Vietnamese.

Laird held out the possibility of some U.S. support for future strikes against enemy bases in Cambodia—but only if this did not interfere with the program for withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The secretary told the Senate Armed Services Committee that several thousand U.S. troops already have left Cambodia after completing their assigned missions. He said more were to come out this week and major operations against the one (time) Communist sanctuaries will be completed by June 15.

The scheduled purpose of Laird's appearance was discussion of the Safeguard missile defense system and the U.S.-Soviet arms-limitation talks but nearly two-thirds of a three-hour session were devoted to questions and answers about Cambodia.

Although he said the June 30 deadline set by President Nixon for removal of all U.S. troops from Cambodia certainly will be adhered to, Laird opposed the Cooper-Church amendment, which would bar funds for U.S. troops in Cambodia after June 30. He argued this would interfere with the President's ability to protect U.S. forces in South Vietnam.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., meanwhile, introduced a proposed substitute for the Cooper-Church amendment that would bar U.S. ground combat forces from Laos, Cambodia or Thailand "without the prior consent of the Congress, except to the extent that the introduction of such troops is required, as determined by the President and reported promptly to the Congress, to protect the lives of American troops remaining within South Vietnam."

Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania announced he would seek to amend the Cooper-Church amendment by inserting language to permit continuation of the Cambodian operation "as may be required to protect the armed forces of the United States."

Scott said this amendment has the administration's support but added, "The administration would prefer no amendment at all."

The military sales authorization bill which contains the Cooper-Church amendment is due for Senate debate later in the week.

The secretary also said that, although the results of the Cambodian campaign "have exceeded our expectations this far," it will take two or three months to determine its final success or failure.

"The over-all strategic success of the program will be judged by where we are in August and where we are in September," he said.

Laird made these other assertions:

— "We were not involved in any way in the change in the government of Cambodia" that saw neutralist Prince Norodom Sihanouk's government overthrown.

— "The Cambodian invasion was 'debated and discussed at great length' in the National Security Council and 'was presented by me and is supported by me and everyone on the National Security Council.'"

— "While the central North Vietnamese command post (COSVN) has not been captured and might not be because of its mobility, 'We expect to destroy most of the complex' it has used."

Accept Blackmun In Senate Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, which rejected President Nixon's first two choices to fill a year-old vacancy on the Supreme Court, unanimously confirmed Tuesday his nomination of Judge Harry A. Blackmun of Rochester, Minn.

There was little debate before the 94-0 vote, but Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., and other Southern senators said that in Blackmun's case the Senate was applying a different standard of judicial ethics than it did in rejecting Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

Haynsworth, whose home is in Greenville, S.C., was the first of two Southern judges nominated by Nixon for the post, both of whom were denied Senate confirmation. The other was G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

"Apparently if a judge is from South Carolina a higher standard of ethics is required than if a judge is from Minnesota," said Hollings.

No one rose to dispute him, but senators who fought Haynsworth's nomination contended that, unlike Blackmun, he failed to take steps to avoid an appearance of conflicts of interest.

Blackmun, a long-time friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has been a judge on the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals since 1959. He is 61, a summa cum laude graduate of Harvard, and a former lawyer for the Mayo Clinic.

He was the first Supreme Court nominee to be approved without a dissenting vote since 1962, when both Arthur J. Goldberg and Byron R. White were confirmed by voice vote.

In Rochester, Blackmun's secretary said he would be sworn in at the convenience of the court. A spokesman for the court said the time would be announced later.

The court vacancy was created by the resignation last May of Abe Fortas, who had come under fire on ethical grounds.

Blackmun took the news in typically low-keyed fashion. "I'm just not up to making any verbal statement," he said, as he leaned against a lobby wall in the building containing his office in Rochester, Minnesota.

But he did acknowledge that President Nixon had telephoned to offer congratulations.

Blackmun said he didn't know when he would be going to Washington for the swearing-in ceremony.

Lebanon Attacked By Israeli Forces

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli armored column supported by jets made a 14-hour attack into Lebanon on Tuesday in an effort to snuff out Arab guerrilla bases.

At the end of the dawn-to-dusk incursion, the Israeli military command said the operation had "proceeded according to plan."

The armored force which spearheaded the drive across the border on the wooded western slopes of Mt. Hermon was preparing to leave, the spokesman said Tuesday night. The attack was the biggest-ever strike into Lebanese territory.

Israel began Tuesday night to pull back its tanks and troops under cover of a heavy artillery barrage and air support, a Palestinian guerrilla communique in Beirut said.

Al Fatah, the guerrilla group, claimed the withdrawal was being hurried at every point by hundreds of guerrillas pouring into the area from camps throughout Lebanon.

The Lebanese army announced that six soldiers were killed and 15 wounded in the fighting. Two of its tanks were destroyed and four disabled, a communique said.

Contradicting assertions by Syria and Iraq that their armed forces earlier had joined in the battle on the side of the Lebanese army and guerrillas, the Israeli spokesman said there was no heavy fighting whatsoever. Israeli casualties were seven soldiers wounded, he added.

The Israelis said their jet fighters shot down three Syrian MIG-17s in dogfights over the battle zone, where the borders of Israel, Syria and Lebanon come together in southern Lebanon.

The spokesman scoffed at reports from Arab capitals claiming heavy engagements and mass participation of Lebanese army troops as well as substantial support from Syria and Iraq.

But occupied Golan Heights and Israeli settlements south of the Sea of Galilee were shelled from Syria and Jordan during the Lebanese attack.

At the United Nations in New York, the Security Council demanded the immediate withdrawal of all Israeli forces from Lebanon.

The Israeli raid followed repeated warnings against continuing guerrilla attacks on Israeli border settlements. In one town Kiryat Shmona, a few miles from the Mt. Hermon slopes.

Both Syria and Iraq claimed to have joined in the fighting during the day. Artillery shells, believed to be Iraqi, rained down on several kibbutzim south of the Sea of Galilee along the Jordan border, causing some structural damage. The inhabitants took to shelter.

The Syrian MIG-17s (owned by Israeli warplanes brought to 23 the number of Syrian aircraft destroyed since the 1967 Middle East war. In all, Israel claims a toll of 114 Arab planes during this period.

Syrian artillery and tanks fired at Israeli positions and settlements in the occupied Golan Heights for nearly three hours, but were silenced by Israeli warplanes, correspondents in the area reported.

Meany Blasts Money Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO executive council, contending the Nixon administration "blunderbuss" attack on inflation has backfired, gave the President a summation of their grievances when he came calling on them Tuesday.

The President met with the union leaders for the better part of an hour to explain his Cambodian position. The council earlier had adopted the statement on inflation and gave it to the President.

"We gave him a copy and asked him to read it," said AFL-CIO President George Meany, whose economic views differ greatly from those of the administration. "He said he would read it."

Meany released the statement at a news conference after Nixon's limousine pulled away from the labor organization's headquarters in downtown Washington.

"The administration's campaign against inflation has been a complete failure," the council statement said. "Prices have gone up, unemployment has grown, and the nation has crossed the threshold of recession."

The labor leaders urged the administration to impose controls on interest rates, move to stimulate housing construction, curtail business mergers and, if the President determines it is necessary, impose wage and price controls.

Meany said the President made no direct bid to the council for support of his Cambodian policy, but he speculated that nine-tenths of the council members back the use of U.S. troops to clear out Viet Cong and North Vietnamese sanctuaries across the Vietnamese border.

Meany said Nixon showed no immediate reaction to the council policy statement, the strongest organized labor blast against the administration's economic policy since Nixon took office more than a year ago.

Back at the White House, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said there would be no comment, but he said the President has asked Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz to set up a meeting with AFL-CIO economists to discuss the matter.

Guardsmen Alert For Racial Riot

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — National Guardsmen with live ammunition and orders to shoot if necessary stood by Tuesday to prevent a renewal of racial violence that has claimed six lives.

Gov. Lester Maddox left Atlanta by plane Tuesday afternoon for an inspection of the riot-torn area as black and white leaders sought a permanent end to the unrest.

Violence erupted late Monday after a march by Negroes through the downtown section. Black unrest in the city began after a 16-year-old Negro prisoner, Charles Oatman, was beaten to death. Sheriff's officers said he was beaten by other prisoners. Negro militants claimed there were reports that Oatman had been beaten by officers. Oatman had been charged with murder in the death of his 5-year-old niece.

Sheriff E.R. Atkins said two Negro cellmates had been charged with murder in the fatal beating of Oatman. Blacks have been protesting over the jail conditions which they said allowed the beatings to take place.

After the peaceful protest march Monday, roving bands began smashing windows and creating disturbances in downtown stores. Fires, looting and sniper fire broke out later, and Maddox ordered National Guardsmen and state police into action at the request of Mayor Millard Beckum.

Before the situation was brought under control early Tuesday, six Negro men were dead of gunshot wounds, more than 60 persons injured, scores arrested and widespread property damage.

Maj. Gen. George J. Heard, Georgia's adjutant general, said Tuesday that Augusta police were responsible for four of the deaths. "We didn't do any shooting," Heard said of his troops.

Police Chief Broadus L. Bequest told a meeting of city officials and Negro leaders Tuesday that his officers had been told to apprehend any individuals looting or burning, but to avoid taking a life if possible.

He said his men were forced to return fire when snipers fired at them, but they aimed low and this was why many were wounded rather than killed.

Negro leaders charged at the meeting that racism had existed in the city for a long time and that members of the white community have failed to respond to indications of impending trouble.

Maddox said he thinks the riot was part of "a Communist conspiracy." He said the Guardsmen have guns and ammunition and are under orders to control the situation. "Those sniping at our Guardsmen—we're not going to ask them to stop. If they continue that, they'd better be prepared to meet their Maker," he said.

$100 Million Toll In Texas Twister

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A tornado that swept through the heart of this west Texas city caused destruction estimated by insurance officials at a $100 million.

The tornado destroyed the homes of 4,800 persons, state officials estimated, when it hit about 9:45 p.m. Monday.

The count of bodies reached 20 after earlier death lists were rid of duplications.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes estimated that 350 to 500 persons suffered injuries. About 10 percent of this number was seriously hurt.

The Texas Insurance Advisory Association said preliminary surveys at the scene indicated at least $100 million in property damage. The association said adjusters felt the damage estimate could raise substantially.

The Small Business Administration declared Lubbock, a city of 170,000, a disaster area.

The lieutenant governor inspected the city from a helicopter and said the area of damage was a mile wide and eight miles long. Four hundred blocks suffered some destruction, with 100 blocks severely hit.

Many Colleges Reopen

Protesters Hinder Mail

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More than 1,000 student anti-war demonstrators blocked the entrances to the federal building in Albany, N.Y., Tuesday, virtually cutting off mail service for about six hours in New York's capital city.

Elsewhere around the nation striking students at many universities returned to the classroom although protests—in a few cases violent—continued on a number of campuses against the Indochina war and the deaths of four Kent State students.

National Guardsmen were posted at the main entrance of the University of South Carolina where classes resumed after rampaging students vandalized part of the administration building and clashed with troopers and Guardsmen Monday night. The campus was under a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew until further notice. About 1,000 demonstrators of the 15,000-student campus were involved.

The student strike information center at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass., reported that 286 schools were on strike indefinitely.

But more schools reopened and others announced they would Wednesday. There are about 1,500 four-year colleges in the country.

Most of the protesting students in Albany were from the State University campus there. They marched on the federal building, which houses the main post office, and stood six deep at the entrances, keeping workers out.

Only a few letter carriers managed to get in and out of the building, virtually halting all mail service in the city of 130,000 persons.

Except for two minor scuffles when employees attempted to enter the building, there was no violence. The demonstrators stood quietly, their hands folded over their chests. Earlier, many of the students had demonstrated in front of the State Capitol and State Office Building.

At Michigan Tech University in Houghton, about 200 ROTC cadets joined 1,000 other students in a one-acre park near the campus in what was termed a symbolic protest against the war and the Kent State deaths.

"We'd rather have them (ROTC cadets) working with us instead of a few of us marching on ROTC headquarters to protest," said the student government president, Neil Kaiser.

Said Jerry Blackburn, a junior from Dearborn, "We wanted to impress on the public that there are young people who are against the war, but not burning down buildings."

The one-acre wooded area is adjacent to the Catholic chapel on the edge of the campus.

Police in Ypsilanti, Mich., reported that 83 youths were arrested Monday night and early Tuesday following disturbances at Eastern Michigan University. Students had barricaded campus streets and lit bonfires, and windows of a bank and some university buildings were broken. The mayor ordered a 10 p.m. to 5:30 a.m. curfew.

Fifteen demonstrators, most of them students at Iowa State University, and a professor there were arrested after they sat down in the street blocking a bus filled with draftees at an Ames bus depot. Several of the demonstrators had to be dragged away by police.

The police science building on a campus of Livingston College, N.J., a division of Rutgers University, was damaged extensively by a Molotov cocktail. No one was injured.

About 100 students at 1,000-student Virginia Polytechnic Institute ended a seven-hour occupation of the architecture school building but vowed to return if the university council, the school's policy making body, failed to endorse plans for a student strike. The strike ended after the protesters admitted several school officials to discuss grievances over strike plans.

Editorial Comment

Defiance Of Freedom

Civil liberties are held in contempt by extremists of right and left alike. Convinced of their own righteousness, the dogmatists at both ends of the political spectrum characteristically believe in freedom for themselves but rarely for those who reject their ideological discipline. This narrowly restrictive view of freedom is normally accompanied by a self-indulgent approach to violence as an appropriate terror weapon against the ideological enemy.

Thus it is not surprising that the new breed of campus revolutionaries, intent on destroying all freedom except their own, are now turning to what they call "trashing"—the setting of fires, hurling of rocks, smashing of windows—ominously reminiscent of the shattered storefronts with which the Nazis sought to intimidate their political opponents a generation ago.

Ritualized violence indiscriminately destroys the rights of its victims. It also escalates of its own accord. A group of distinguished citizens who arrive at Harvard to carry out their duties as trustees of an international studies center are held prisoners in their cars by a radical mob—and their meeting has to be disbanded. A cafeteria is vandalized at Hunter. Books are burned at the Yale Law School. The President of Pennsylvania State is forced to flee, with his family, as student rioters stone his home at night. A bank is burned down in Santa Barbara. At the Center for Behavioral Studies in Stanford, arsonists destroy research papers including the lifetime work of a visiting foreign scholar. An anti-war rally turns into an orgy of violence and vandalism in Cambridge, leaving small shopkeepers the principal victims. On a quiet block in Manhattan, radicals blow themselves up as they manufacture bombs for their demented warfare.

In part, this is guerrilla theater of the absurd, fashioned by alienated children of affluence who are striking out blindly against the Establishment. But in part it stems from the aim of more sophisticated and more sinister theorists to entice governmental authority into acts of political repression and thereby to stimulate such a broad-scale counter-reaction as to invite genuine social chaos.

A justice of the United States Supreme Court wrote in a recent opinion:

"Radicals of the left historically have used those tactics to incite the extreme right with the calculated design of fostering a regime of repression from which the radicals of the left hope to emerge as the ultimate victor. The left in the role is the provocateur . . . The social compact has room for tolerance, patience and restraint, but not for sabotage and violence." The author of these words is William O. Douglas.

Whether from left or right, the most extreme thoughts and the most offensive rhetoric are entitled to protection of the Bill of Rights. But, as Justice Douglas suggests, when thought is translated into unlawful or violent action, it is equally imperative that the full force of the law be invoked to protect the community, not only from the coercion itself but from its consequent after-effects. And this applies with particular force to the academic community, where protection of freedom is most precious and its security most fragile.

If the campuses are to be permitted to function as staging areas for violence, the academic community jeopardizes its fundamental role as freedom's protector; to impair academic freedom, whether through internal coercion or external repression, is to shut off civil liberties at the source.

The defense of freedom requires vigilance against all forms of violence, coercion or repression. The safeguard of the people's legitimate powers is the rule of law under the Bill of Rights. No government, nor any dissident group, can defy that rule or abridge those rights without being guilty of the ultimate and intolerable subversion of the American ideal and the democratic reality.

BERRY'S WORLD

'The trouble with impeaching Douglas is: who wants to try through trying to fill ANOTHER Supreme Court seat?'

Fulbright Says Nixon Misreads Protest

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the Nixon administration misreads the extent of national discontent with the Vietnam war but last week's massive student protests will help convince it to change policies.

"I don't know how they can ignore it altogether," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The interview was conducted before Saturday's massive demonstrations and before President Nixon told his news conference Friday night that "I have not been surprised by the intensity of the protests."

The Arkansas Democrat also said "events would indicate" the United States is sliding into a commitment to support the new government of Cambodia. And he charged administration officials "have been less than candid in informing the Congress what their intentions are all the way."

Q. Do you think the Nixon administration understands the extent of discontent with the war in the country?

A. No. I think they misread it. Their own reports all indicate that, saying their telephone polls are 10 to 1 in favor. I think that they're wrong. I agree with George Reedy's observation that presidents, not just this President, his predecessor and others, are so surrounded with what used to be called the palace guard, the royal court, it insulates them from reality.

Q. Will the events of this past week help convince them?

A. That's what it's designed to do, and I suspect it will have an effect. Because they are so obvious, and the physical evidence is so great, I don't know how they can ignore it altogether.

Although presidents have ways. They go off to Camp David, and there are other mechanisms. President Nixon has four homes. He can go other places and isolate himself from the presence of students and others. I'm not trying to be petty about it. This is a very small aspect of it. All presidents are isolated.

Q. If they don't understand the opinion in the country, what makes you think that even approval of a restrictive amendment by the U.S. Senate will have an impact?

A. The vote of the Senate—these are representatives. He was once a senator. If the Senate takes a strong position, and that's brought to his attention—they don't isolate him from all news. I didn't mean to make that absolute, that he doesn't know anything that's going on. A vote by the Senate is one of those things that cannot be concealed, or cannot be really misinterpreted.

Q. If the Senate fails to take action, can those who feel strongly influence it by working in next fall's election campaigns?

A. I've seen that done. I know you can do it. In other words, you can change the sentiment of the Senate by electing people who feel as they do. If they don't succeed, in the final analysis, it's a representative government.

Q. Do you get the impression the Nixon administration is as interested in propping up the Lon Nol government in Cambodia as in protecting U.S. troops?

A. Yes. I don't think the invasion of Cambodia was reasonably designed to protect the lives of American troops. On the contrary it exposes them to greater casualties.

Q. If we are sliding into a commitment, rather than making it by the normal processes, what can be done about it? Block funds?

A. Theoretically that can be done. It would seem to me that a majority of either house would cause any president to re-evaluate his policy. Now of course any president that is determined and wishes to, subject to those pressures I think, could continue to do it, so long as the Army obeys it.

Q. Has there been any deception in not stressing the need to prop up this government?

A. It would seem to me they have been less than candid in informing the Congress what their intentions are all the way.

Q. Do you think Secretary of State Rogers knew what was going on when he appeared before your committee April 27?

A. I cannot assume that the secretary of state did not know.

Law For Today

Q. When merchandise is returned to a store, shouldn't sales tax be included in the refund? Also, isn't the buyer entitled to a cash refund if he wants one? I know of a storekeeper who'll only give a merchandise credit.

A. Sales tax should always be included in any refund for returned merchandise. However, there is no law that requires a seller to accept returned merchandise either for cash or credit against another purchase. Generally, the sales slip will indicate the store's policy on returns. For example, it may state—"No Cash Refund After Ten Days." Such statements are within the law. Should a store fail to honor its part of the agreement, a complaint can be filed with the Consumer Fraud Division of the Attorney General's office.

There are a few instances in which the seller must refund the purchase price for returned merchandise including (1) a door-to-door sale for $50 or more which was not solicited by the buyer and was cancelled by him within three business days and (2) a sale which is subject to approval of credit for the buyer whose application for credit is rejected.

The Global View

Cambodia: Drain, No Gain For Soviet

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA)—The Russians, as was expected, condemned the intrusion into Cambodian territory by American-supported South Vietnamese forces. But Moscow's position on Indochina remains ambiguous.

The Kremlin leaders are only too aware that the situation shaping up not only in Indochina but in all Southeast Asia is almost ideal for their Red Chinese enemies.

The Chinese are not likely to intervene actively in Cambodia but will adopt an ultra-revolutionary posture about the danger of "American imperialism."

This will be an easy way for them to prolong the conflict and put the Russians in the embarrassing position of having to foot the bill.

For the Russians, this is a particularly bitter pill to swallow. They have little influence in North Vietnam which, under the leadership of Le Duan, Hanoi's Communist leader, is edging closer to Peking.

Moscow was not even invited to the recent Indochinese conference of North Vietnamese, Laotian and Cambodian Communists initiated by Prince Sihanouk, the deposed Cambodian chief of state.

But Chou En-lai, Peking's premier, played a leading role at the conference. It was he who set its tone by denouncing both American and Russian imperialism.

Whether the Russians under the circumstances will accept new economic burdens in Vietnam and Indochina is still early to predict.

There is reason to believe that the United States has been engaged in secret negotiations with Russia which might eventually be resolved at the conference table.

Fear of being branded by Peking as an American accomplice is obviously the main reason why the Russians are still reluctant to agree to an international conference.

However, Russia's Communist chief, Leonid Brezhnev, and his representative at the United Nations hinted strongly in recent statements that they are considering the possibilities of such a conference.

There is some evidence that members of Moscow's all-powerful Politburo, including Premier Kosygin and top ideologist Mikhail Suslov, believe that a continuation of the Indochinese conflict is no longer in Russia's interest.

This apparently has long been the view of some of Moscow's top military strategists. They see China as the main enemy.

According to East European diplomats, Russia has been in the grip of "a profound, almost irrational, fear of China" since Peking launched its first earth satellite.

"Even ordinary Russians are convinced that if China gets a nuclear delivery system the first target will be Moscow," one diplomat said.

The Soviet press again is printing alarming reports about war preparations in Peking, "which are continuing on an ever-rising scale." The Chinese, the Russians claim, are building airfields, ammunition dumps and roads on the border of the Soviet Union on a frantic scale.

Since frontier talks between Russia and China began in Peking on October 20, Soviet propaganda has been only sporadically charged of "war hysteria" in China.

Russia's writing on the militarization of China has even managed to convey the impression that it was more of a shadow play, a maneuver in the internal struggle for power in Peking.

This assumption is no longer made. "Dragon Mania" is the headline of a long article on China in the Komsomolskaya Pravda, newspaper of the Young Communist League.

The Russians thus have much to gain from a diplomatic conference on Vietnam and Indochina. A continuation of the conflict is no longer to their advantage.

Ann Landers:

Experience Wins Over Theory

Dear Ann Landers: I agree with the mother who wishes you would quit saying "hair is not important." Hair is very important at our house. We have three long-haired sons and a daughter whose hair is down to her waist.

The boys wash their hair four times a week. With the girl, it's a daily ritual. This means 19 towels in the wash every Monday morning. We buy shampoo by the case. And now they are asking for creme rinse which costs nearly as much as shampoo. We have two hair dryers in the house which are in constant use. The electricity bill is out of this world.

Nothing clogs up the sink like hair. It's easier to get a doctor to come out than a plumber. (And cheaper, too.) The last time a plumber came, he greeted me with, "More hair, huh." So please, Ann Landers, don't tell me hair is not important because I know better.—Mrs. G.W.W. of Chattanooga

Dear Chat: Once again experience triumphs over theory! You win, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: This will probably come as a shock to you, but I am in love with my husband. Don't ask me why. He snores, looks at too much TV, rubbernecks when a cute dish struts by in a mini-skirt, forgets to throw his shorts and sox in the hamper and he leaves wet towels on the bathroom floor. I could go on and on—but aren't these things that make a man a man?

My husband has provided me with everything a woman could ask for—plus love. I sometimes wonder if I have done as much for him. Please print my letter, Ann. It might be a welcome relief from the daily recital of wifely complaints. Sign me—No Newlywed

Dear N.N.: Here's your letter and my thanks for writing it. It is indeed a welcome relief. I don't agree, however, that the faults you listed "Make a man a man." A woman might love a man in spite of them, but not because of them.

Dear Ann Landers: Sometimes grandma's home remedies are better than all the scientific discoveries put together. The letter from the sleepwalker who was reluctant to take a trip for fear she'd show up in a hotel lobby at 3 a.m. wearing her nightgown (or less) reminded me of a problem in our own family.

Uncle Earle used to walk in his sleep. It worried Grandma to death the way Uncle Earle unbolted the door, let himself out of his room and walked all over the neighborhood—sound asleep.

One day Grandma hit on a bright idea. She had Grandpa build a small trough—like they used for slopping the hogs, only lower. She filled the trough with cold water and put it alongside Uncle Earle's bed. He had to step in it to stand up. The cold water awakened him at once and that put an end to his sleepwalking. Please print this if you think it will help somebody.—A Friend

Dear Friend: Grandma's solution makes sense. Other readers suggested cornflakes or popcorn strewn beside the bed where the sleepwalker would step on it. Any of the suggestions are worth a try.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13—Born today, you are one of those persons who perpetually longs for life even when in the midst of it. Concerned that life will pass you by, you run the risk of not recognizing great moments when they occur simply because you are too preoccupied with the fear that you will do just that. You will have to learn to relax, to take what comes, to appreciate the present moment—which may well prove great—rather than attend the coming one—which you can only hope will be great.

Not often at peace with yourself, you are unsettled by what appears to you to be the thoughtlessness of other people, the potential harm in situations and circumstances in the world today. You are not one to sit idly by with your worries in your lap waiting for others to come to your rescue or to remedy the conditions that cause you worry. Rather, you do what you can to make the world more to your liking.

Wind Fans Fire Which Destroys Farm Residence

JERSEYVILLE—The farm home of William Fred Meyer, located five miles west and a mile south of Jerseyville, was destroyed by fire Friday. The high wind and extreme heat prevented the Jerseyville Fire Department and neighbors from saving any of the contents. Mr. Meyer rushed into the building and grabbed two armfuls of clothing from his bedroom, which is near the front steps, and that was all that was salvaged.

He was able to untie two dogs, who were near the front porch and saved the birds that were in a cage on the porch.

It is thought that faulty wiring had caused the blaze. Meyer, who was the only one home, said he was working behind the barn and when he looked around, he saw the flames. Black smoke poured from the eight-room house and could be seen for several miles.

Commission Urges Stiffer Rioting Penalty

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Crime Investigating Commission, in a report made public Tuesday, recommended enactment of legislation that would provide stiffer penalties for rioting and possession of explosives.

The 701-page report of the October 1969 rioting in Chicago by the militant Students for a Democratic Society was released by Charles Siragusa, the commission's director. The report was submitted to the Illinois General Assembly last month but its contents were not disclosed to the public at that time.

The report, compiled over a period of five months, contained a number of recommendations for combating illegal activities of militant groups.

The report termed the disorders of Oct. 8 through Oct. 11 as "in insurrection of young militant members of the SDS," which it said were "carefully planned and executed by revolutionary youths who are among the most anarchistic in our nation's history."

"The wild rampage through the Chicago Loop and the Lincoln Park areas constituted wanton destruction of property with contemptuous disregard for the public welfare," the report said. "In most instances attacks on individuals were unprovoked and entirely unwarranted."

The report said the Chicago Police Department "employed outstanding restraint in suppressing the riots and preventing more extensive property and personal damages."

Of the 73 police officers injured in the rioting, 30 required medical treatment, the report said. It listed only three demonstrators as being injured.

National Guardsmen were called out as a result of the rioting, which the report said resulted in damages totaling $183,081.

Recommendations contained in the report included enactment of a riot statute providing a minimum sentence of five years in prison "where a group of rioters employs explosives or incendiary devices or seeks to halt a process of state government with force or violence."

The report also recommended the penalty for possession of explosives be increased to a minimum of five years where there is an indication that the explosives were intended for sabotage.

Money Losses Increased By Truck Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A continuing strike by truck drivers dissatisfied with the terms of a tentative national Teamsters Union contract pushed daily losses of the trucking industry into the millions of dollars Tuesday.

A spokesman for the California Trucking Association described the economic effect of the wildcat strike by some 14,000 drivers in Los Angeles as "pretty disastrous."

He estimated the metropolitan trucking business is losing "at least $2 million a day," and said the figure does not include other firms which rely on truck transportation.

Teamsters around the country are voting by mail on a tentative contract that provides wage increases of $1.10 an hour over three years.

But a spokesman for the Los Angeles drivers said the truckers will stay out even if the contract is ratified "until we get our sick leave provision."

In Chicago, where drivers bargain separately from the national negotiations, losses from the six-week combination of strike and lockout mounted to about $630 million, said an official of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

John Coulter, research director of the organization, said each day of the strike has cost some $30 million just in lost wages and business receipts.

More than 45,000 drivers and dock workers and 114,000 workers in other industries have been idled by the wage dispute. The drivers are demanding a pay hike of $1.65 an hour over three years.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago told a news conference that he supported the truckers' demands. "The Chicago Teamsters are good men and they're entitled to a little more than people in other parts of the country," he said.

A group of trucking employers has labeled the demands of Chicago drivers inflationary and maintains there is no reason why truckers in the city should receive higher wages than Teamsters elsewhere.

FBI Makes Big Gambling Raid In Detroit

By STEPHEN H. WILDSTROM

Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — In a five-hour sweep more than 200 FBI agents have carried out what Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell called the biggest gambling raid by federal agents in the nation's history.

Agents raided 58 locations in Detroit and its suburbs and in Flint Monday and arrested 58 persons. Nine others were being sought. Federal officials said the raid broke up a numbers ring which had been grossing $250,000 daily.

All those arrested were released on $1,000 bond on charges of conspiracy to violate provisions of the interstate transportation in aid of racketeering law.

The charge carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

An FBI spokesman said that in addition to making the arrests, agents seized cash, numbers slips, tally sheets, files, adding machines and firearms.

Few details of the raid were immediately released. U.S. Atty. James Brickley brushed aside newsmen's questions, saying no information would be forthcoming until a news conference today.

The raid marked the culmination of the third federal gambling probe in the Detroit area in recent months.

The first investigation involved what federal authorities termed a national sports betting ring. After a series of raids which began New Year's Day, 10 persons were charged with conspiracy to violate federal gambling laws and six others were named as co-conspirators.

A second investigation involved alleged bookmaking activities in Flint.

There have been no arrests resulting from that probe.

An FBI spokesman said Monday's raids came as the climax of an investigation in progress since early March.

In announcing the arrests in Washington, Mitchell said, "Through operations such as this, this administration is convinced we can dry up the biggest source of funds for organized crime in this country."

The amended bill must be approved in the house.

Justice Department—$1.1 billion, an increase of $307.4 million over present year appropriations.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was given the entire $257.4 million requested. For every dollar appropriated for fiscal year 1969, the committee said, the government got $1.57 in fines, savings and recoveries.

BEARDSTOWN — The state of the city was explored by experts and others last night.

This topic was to feature the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the Arrow restaurant.

Mayor Hap Murray, Robert Donaldson, Roy Roberts and Herbert Darnell qualify as the experts. Donaldson heads the hospital board, Roberts is city park director and Darnell is superintendent of schools.

Since all four are highly interested in improvements it is expected their plans and aspirations will get an airing before local merchants.

A new water system, a new hospital complex, school and park expansion have been much in the news lately and citizens are to have an opportunity to ask questions regarding these matters.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A caucus of the Republican majority of the Illinois Senate Monday held to investigate the lowering of a flag to half-staff at Illinois State University at Normal last week, was sharply criticized by senate Democrats.

The Republican senators went into the caucus for more than an hour Monday to question Samuel E. Braden, ISU president, about his approval of the flag lowering on his campus.

The flag was lowered to mourn the death of four students of Kent State University in Ohio last week.

While the Republican caucus went on for more than an hour and fifteen minutes, the Democrats fumed about being forced to wait for the senate session to begin.

Senate minority whip Sen. Alan J. Dixon, D-Belleview, said the calling of Braden before a "secret meeting" constituted the "grosse

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada, too, is having its problems with inflation, which suggests that the persistence of this malady in the United States Economy may not be solely the result of an improper approach to the problem.

Canada, however, is attacking the problem a bit more directly. Unlike the United States, where the defeat of inflation is expected to be a natural result of an economic slowdown, Canada is considering direct credit controls.

Moreover, the Canadian government already has developed a program of voluntary restraints on prices and wages that has met with some success during the past few months, although the exact amount cannot be measured.

Here is a comparison of results in the battle against inflation:

Consumer Price Increases: In Canada, nearly 5 per cent, in the United States close to 6 per cent.

Unemployment: In Canada, slightly more than 5 per cent on an annual basis. In the United States, 4.8 per cent in April and rising swiftly.

Industrial Output: In Canada, continuing at a slow pace but showing signs of perking up. In the United States, at a standstill or even falling back some.

Budget: Canada's is in surplus, meaning that the government is restricting economic activity. The U.S. budget also calls for a surplus, but many doubts are arising about the feasibility of this in either fiscal 1970 or 1971.

Perhaps the biggest difference is in the interpretation of economists. Many economists believe to United States is in the midst of a mild recession, based on declines in production. Canada's economy is still expanding.

The two economies are suffering from such similar problems, however, that the approach to the future in one country may have lessons for the other.

In Canada, the government is

FUNNY BUSINESS

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market skidded to another new seven-year low Tuesday after demonstrating its sensitivity to the Indochina situation by a sharp but short-lived rally on what looked like good word about Vietnam.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed off 5.48 at 704.59, its lowest point since Aug. 8, 1963, when it hit 704.18. Early in Tuesday's session, the Dow had been down as much as 6.99.

When Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's statement that there would be an end to combat by U.S. ground troops in Vietnam by June, 1971, was reported, the market reversed itself in a flurry of buying. The Dow jumped from a minus 5.21 at 1:30 p.m. to a gain of 1.59 a half hour later, then resumed its downward pattern.

One analyst said the fluctuation demonstrated that the market was "grasping at straws in its effort to find a bottom."

The broker said the possibility of the market dropping below the 700 mark in its effort to establish a bottom was "on the likely side."

Turnover of 10.85 million shares was up from Monday's extremely low level of 6.66 million shares but still was indicative of lack of interest by investors.

Declines outnumbered advances 879 to 432 among the 1,570 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. There were 373 new lows for the year and 1 new high. The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks was down 0.40 to 42.73.

The Associated Press 60-stock average ended off 2.0 at 247.2, another new low in its series for the year, with industrials down 2.9, rails off 1.3, and industrials down 7.

The most-active Big Board issue was Texaco, off 1/4 at 14 1/4 on volume of 559,400 shares. Of the 20, most-active stocks, 16 declined, 1 advanced, and 3 were unchanged.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also closed lower. The Amex price-change index was down 0.12 at 21.45. Trading volume of 3.1 million shares was up from Monday's very low level of 1.64 million shares. There were 554 declines and 252 advances among the 1,013 issues traded.

Wheat Prices Move Up 1 Cent

CHICAGO (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated this year's winter wheat crop at a figure higher than a month ago but lower than the 1969 final total, and wheat futures at the Chicago Board of Trade closed nearly 1 cent a bushel higher.

Other grain futures and commodities in the soybean complex closed generally lower.

Most of the trade had expected a higher winter wheat production figure and liquidation was strong Monday and carried over into Tuesday. But the government estimate came after Monday's close and buyers were extremely active on the opening Tuesday. A side influence on the buying of wheat futures was a report of some inclement weather where the new crop is about to be harvested.

At the close, wheat was 1/2 to 3/4 cents a bushel higher, May 1.49; corn was 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, May 1.28 1/4; oats were unchanged to 3/4 lower, May 66 1/2; rye was unchanged to 3/4 lower, May 1.07 1/2; and soybeans were 3/4 to 1 1/2 cents lower, May 2.65 1/2.

BEHIND THIS SUCCESSFUL YOUNG MAN THERE'S A WOMAN ...his mother!

Steve Wade realizes that his newspaper route is his complete responsibility. It is his business. But, at the same time, it is a wonderful feeling to know that he has a partner upon whom he can rely for advice and assistance any time he wants it. That partner is his mother.

From Mrs. Wade's viewpoint, the education which Steve gets on his route is just as important, in its way, as that which he gets in school. One supplements the other. Together, they give Steve a head start in life which will benefit him greatly over the years ahead. She knows that in no other way could he learn so many practical things so quickly—and build up a bank account of his own at the same time.

A secret recipe. Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Carl Beam, Master Distiller, is just as particular about the ingredients that go into his Bourbon as his wife is about the fruits and vegetables she puts up for winter. That's because Carl is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

'People Really Loathe Success'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "People really loathe success," said producer Ross Hunter. "The hardest thing for a successful person to understand is why other people immediately start knocking—simply because he is a success."

"Yet ironically, in this period of instant everything, everyone wants to be an instant success. Nobody wants to be a starlet. They all want to be a star."

Hunter, still boyish-looking in his late 40's and one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors, has had both kinds of success in his roller coaster career—easy and hard-won.

An ex-English teacher who in his youth became a $1,000-a-week teen-age idol as an actor, Ross was sidelined a year by an attack of penicillin poisoning. He started again as a $60 studio underling and worked his way to the top as a producer.

Among his big hits have been "Magnificent Obsession," "Imitation of Life," "Pillow Talk," "Madame X," and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." His most recent venture, "Airport," based on the best-selling novel, has received pot shots from critics but is doing well at the box office.

Hunter, now embarked on a $75-million production schedule for Universal studios, is proud of his financial record.

"Of the 45 films I have made," he remarked, "none has lost money with the possible exception of two. But I believe television sales enabled them to recover their investment."

One of his biggest bonanzas, "Thoroughly Modern Millie," starring Julie Andrews and Carol Channing, cost about $5 million and so far has brought in $52 million.

Like his own hero, the late Irving Thalberg, Ross believes the chief function of the film industry is to provide people with entertainment and an escape from the humdrum problems of life.

"The screens are being flooded by exploitation films," he said. "That is why the mass audiences of yesterday are staying at home now watching old movies on television."

"It is not the sex movie, the movie that drags nudity in by the heels, that attracts a mass family audience."

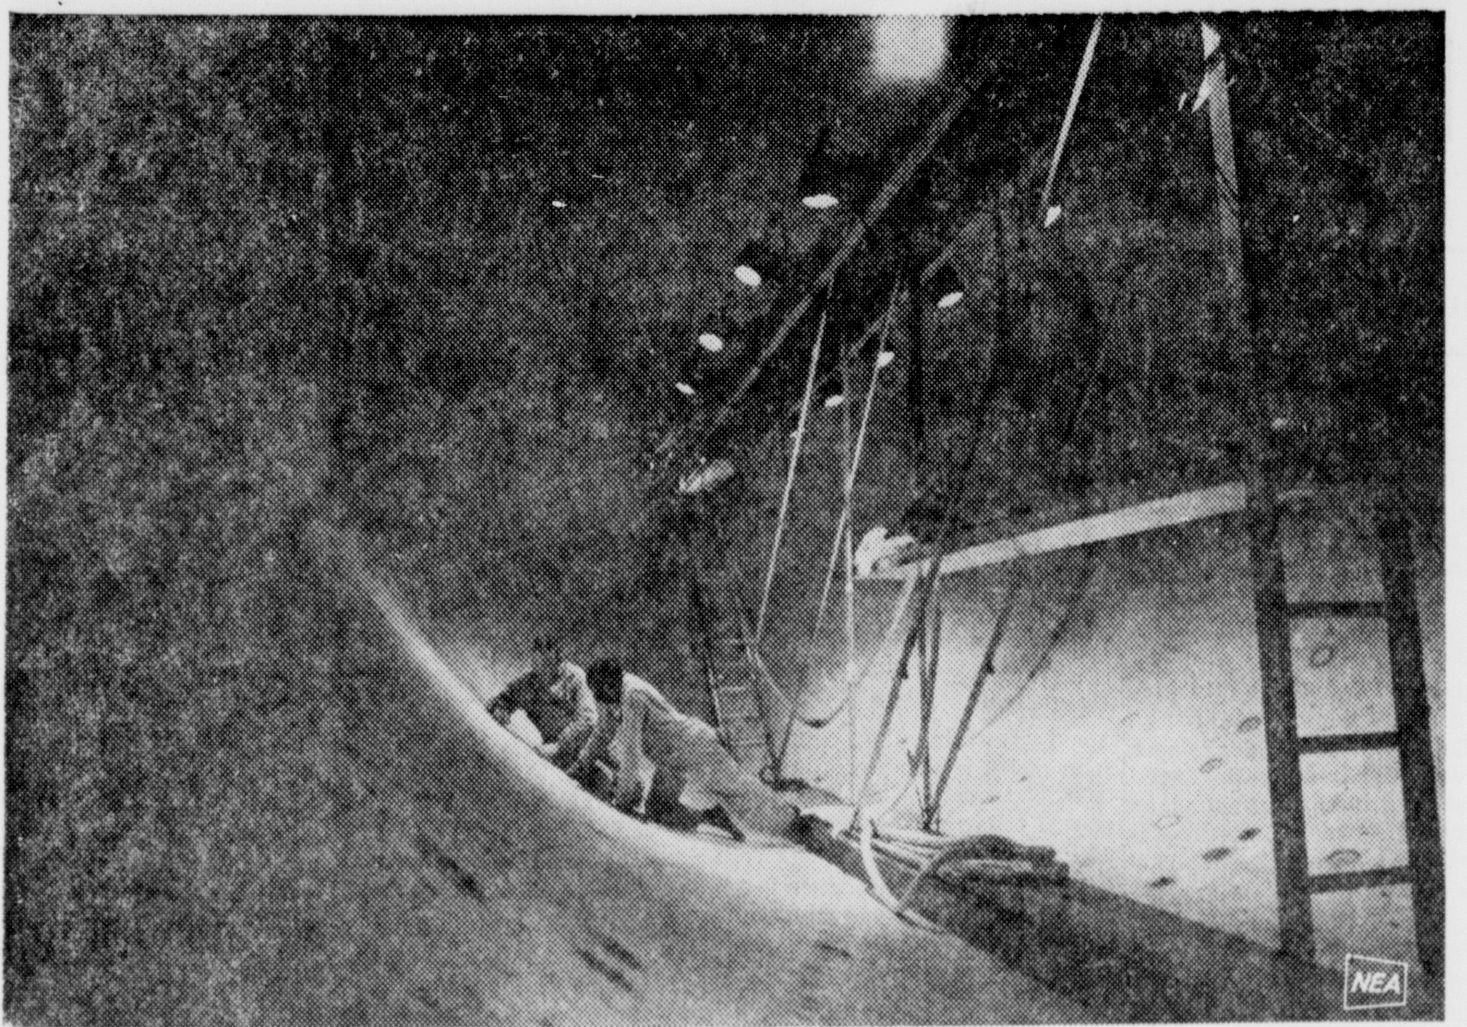

"People want to be moved emotionally. The only excitement of sex is mystery. Sex made too explicit becomes sexless."

"Most people don't care to see movies that make them feel like Peeping Toms."

"The most glorious producer of sex was David Selznick, and he got his effects through close-ups of faces and the eyes. He rarely got below the neck."

the United States during World War II was automobile tires. Sales were stopped in December, 1941.

A unique photo exhibition, keyed to the spirit of its subject matter, has been designed by Gjon Mili, camera craftsman, whose pictures have appeared in Life magazine for more than 30 years.

The exhibition, "Gjon Mili, Photographs," concentrates on the performing arts, his specialty, in the areas of dance, music, theatre and motion pictures. It is currently on view—until July 13—in Lincoln Center's Amsterdam Gallery in the Library and Museum of the Performing Arts of the New York Public Library.

About 150 color pictures are displayed and each one is spotlighted as an individual creation without being jostled for attention by an equally meritorious neighbor. The gallery itself, however, is small and intimate—so how is it done?

By turning the gallery into a semi-theater, the viewers into an audience and the pictures on display into multi-screen, slide-projected images. Actually, there are four separate screens, each one stepped in front of, or behind, its neighbor to minimize visual conflict. The screens are built into wood-paneled walls and fed from behind by continuous and simultaneous rear-screen projection. Comfortable chairs in front of the screens invite relaxed viewing.

Each screen station brings spectators up to 40 outstanding pictures of one of the performing arts at 15-second intervals. When the show starts to repeat itself, the viewer may wish to study the ballet pictures again, for instance, or may move to another seat for remarkable moments from the world of music and opera... or theatrical highlights... or motion picture experiences.

The essence of Mili's photography is his ability to capture on film the fleeting passages of grace and beauty which the eye alone cannot isolate. A special Mili trademark is his achievement in freezing complete sequences by repetitive strobe flashes to produce climactic visual motion in still pictures.

A reader, seeing his portfolio on a Jerome Robbins' ballet premiere in Life last October, put it this way: "What a shock to turn a paper page and find crystallized there the beauty that is ballet—the magic that a ballet viewer can only share fleetingly."

The basic strength of Mili's photo achievements is his expert knowledge of artificial lighting. Born in Albania in 1904, he came to this country at age 18 and studied electrical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

After graduation, he became a lighting engineer specializing in photographic applications of new lighting techniques. He tested the first photoflood and photoflash bulbs and the first photoflash synchronizer when they were developed.

Then an old student friend struck a spark that changed his career. Harold E. Edgerton, teaching electrical engineering at their alma mater, M.I.T., met Mili again in 1937. Edgerton had developed the stroboscopic light which fragments time into an infinitesimal segment. With it, he had taken a photo of a splashing milk drop which still remains a historic classic.

Mili combined newly developed faster film with Edgar-ton's stroboscopic light and applied it to newsworthy live action... tennis champion Bobby Riggs in motion. His pictures taken at 1-100,000th of a second were published in an exciting new photojournalistic venture in 1938—Life magazine. With those electrifying photographs, the career of Gjon Mili as a professional photographer was launched.

More than three decades have passed and the Mili touch has ranged from intensive coverage of the founding conference of the United Nations to an expressionist photo essay on Chartres Cathedral. But his skill with high speed lighting led to his special involvement with the performing arts in countless photo stories—the artist who captured the fleeting elements of grace and motion.

The exhibition, which contains the best of this area of his work, will be available for other displays after its New York commitment. After all, it's easier to ship a batch of slides for projection than to crate, transport and hang properly 150 large, fragile, expensive color prints.

Berry's Triple Triggers Rally In 7-2 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Ken Berry's tainted pinch hit triple triggered a four-run uprising in the eighth inning and the Chicago White Sox went on to whip the sagging Detroit Tigers 7-2 Tuesday night.

The White Sox trailed 1-0 when center fielder Jim Northrup fell down chasing Berry's leadoff drive in the eighth and it went for a three-base hit. Walt Williams then doubled home the tying run and Luis Aparicio beat out an infield hit, knocking out Detroit starter Les Cain.

Reliever John Hiller was tagged for consecutive run scoring singles by Tom McCraw and Carlos May before left fielder Willie Horton muffed Syd O'Brien's pop fly for an error, allowing McCraw to score.

Janeski, Wood (8) and Herrmann; Cain, Hiller (8), Robertson (8), Lasher (9) and Frehan, W-Janeski, 3-2, L-Cain, 1-2.

The league will be completely reorganized in that new teams will be formed. Players are asked to fill out and return the application blank on this page by Saturday.

Tentative plans call for league games to be held each Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at Nichols Park, with the tentative opening date set for June 3.

In committee appointments at the meeting, Rex Hazelrigg, Ed Olson and Dean Colwell will serve on the finance committee, and Dale Batty will be in charge of the umpires.

All prospective coaches and managers are asked to attend a meeting to cover playing procedures and rules this Thursday evening at 7:30 at the Elks Club.

In other developments, the local YMCA offered to donate the existing uniforms and equipment left over from last season to the new organization.

Financial help is still needed. Anyone wishing to make a donation is asked to contact any officer or director.

Highlanders Turn Back Blueboys, 5-3

A three-run first inning turned out to be the difference as MacMurray rode Jim Long's clutch pitching to a 5-3 victory over cross-town rival Illinois College Tuesday afternoon on the winners' diamond.

The victory, Mac's sixth straight over IC, runs the Highlanders' domination of the ten-year series to 17-3. The Clan stands 6-11 on the year to IC's 5-12.

MacMurray broke loose for three runs in the first frame, started by Louis Martinez' long home run. Dan Doyle blooped a single and Bob Koehn reached on an error. Another IC fielding miscue and a double steal chased in two more runs.

IC scored once in the fifth on a single by Jim Jenkins, a stolen base and Hank Schmitt's single. The Blueboys got within 3-2 with a tally in the sixth on singles by Randy Akers, Mike Uppinghouse and Ted Castleberry.

The Highlanders wrapped it up with single runs in the seventh, on an error, a stolen base by Scott Murphy and another successful double steal; and in the eighth, on singles by Glen Stinson and Phil Bennett and Russ McLaughlan's bunt single followed by a wild throw.

Long scattered eight hits while fanning three and not allowing a walk. Robin Manker held MacMurray to only six hits, fanning nine and walking three.

Allen's Hot Stick Gains 9-5 Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richie Allen's prodigious home run, his third in three games, and Chuck Taylor's effective relief pitching carried the St. Louis Cardinals to an 9-5 victory Tuesday night over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Allen's two-run homer, a 450-foot shot which cleared the stadium box seats more than 60 feet above the left field wall in the fifth inning, boosted the Cardinals to a 6-5 lead after they had trailed 5-1.

Taylor spelled Nelson Briles after the Cardinal starter allowed all Phillie runs in the first two innings. He restricted them to four hits the remainder of the way.

Banks Cracks 500th As Cubs Win In 11th

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo's scratch single with the bases loaded in the 11th inning gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday in a game in which Ernie Banks hit his 500th career home run and Rico Carty stretched his consecutive game hitting streak to 30 games.

Despite Banks' home run in the second inning, the Cubs trailed 3-2 in the last of the ninth when Billy Williams hit his 12th home run of the year.

The 39-year-old Banks lined his third homer of the season and No. 500 off a Pat Jarvis 1-1 pitch in the second inning with nobody on.

Banks doffed his cap to 5,264 screaming fans. The ball will be enshrined in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Banks, who hit his first homer of Gerry Staley in St. Louis on Sept. 20, 1953, two days after Chicago bought him from the Kansas City Monarchs, joined eight others in the 500-homer club, headed by Babe Ruth with 714.

Beardstown Duo Tosses No-Hitter

MT. STERLING — Two Beardstown hurlers combined on a no-hitter as the Tigers blasted Rushville 8-1 in the Brown County District Tuesday afternoon.

Starter Gary Wessel and Bob Roberson split the mound duties, fanning five and issuing four walks. The lone Rushville tally came after two walks and a throwing error in the bottom of the seventh.

Bill Miller stroked three hits and Neal Lamb two to pace the winners, who will face Chandler for the District championship this afternoon.

Franklin Rallies For 10-8 Victory

FRANKLIN — After blowing a five-run lead, Franklin then rallied from behind to score a 10-8 victory over North Greene in the second game of the Franklin District Tuesday afternoon.

Franklin will now face Routt in the championship game at 4:15 today for the right to advance to the Jacksonville High school Regional next week.

The Flashes pushed across five runs in the first inning, with Bruce Carter, Rick Wright and John McDannald getting the big hits, but North Greene came back with five in the second, stroking four singles, a double and a triple.

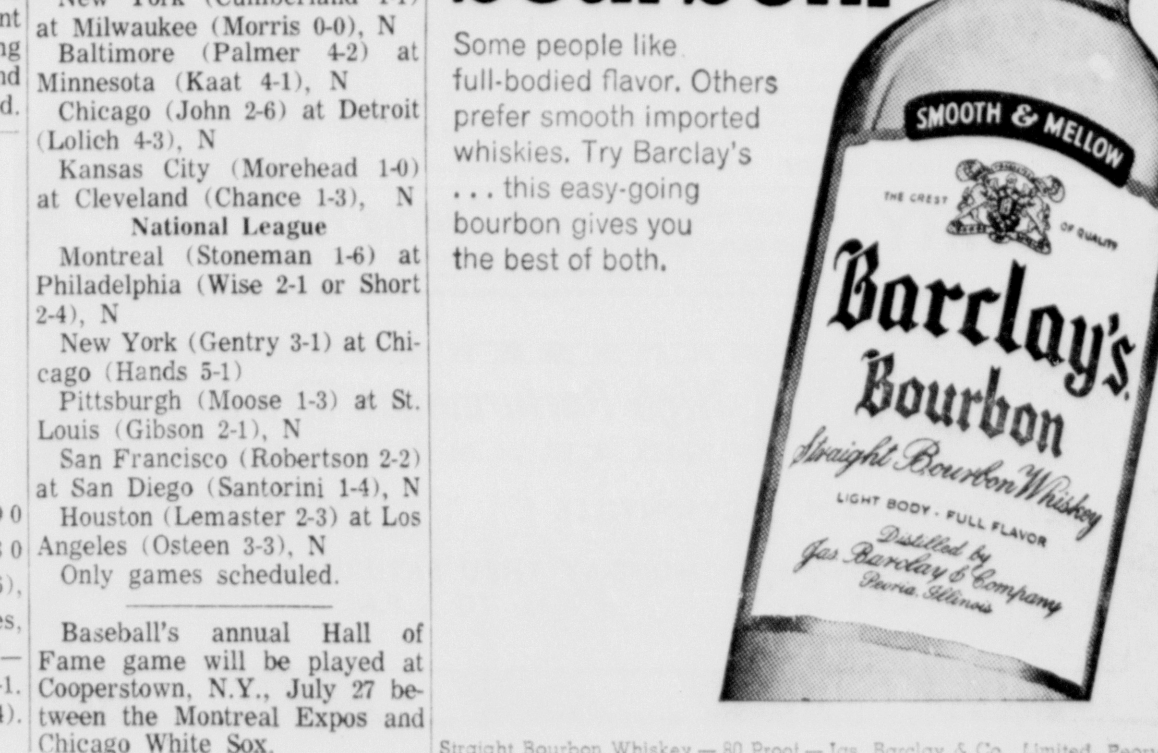

The eventual losers took the lead with two in the fourth, with Jim Denny stroking a two-run single. Franklin surged back with four in the fourth with Bob Allison driving in two with a double and Larry Newell one with a triple.

Denver, Montreal Get Olympic Games

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Denver was picked as site of the 1976 Winter Olympic Games Tuesday shortly after the International Olympic Committee in a surprise move, gave the Summer Games to Montreal over the bids of favored Moscow and Los Angeles.

Thus both the Games for 1976 go to North America. The year marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of the United States. Denver was chosen over Canada's Vancouver, B.C.; Sion, Switzerland, and Tampere, Finland.

Montreal won out on the second ballot in a vote by International Olympic Committee members. It's the first time Canada has had an Olympics.

The result came as a shock, especially to the Russians whose official news agency, Tass, put out a premature bulletin some two hours before the final decision that Moscow had been awarded the Games.

Montreal, a sprawling city of 2½ million people of whom some 60 per cent are of French descent, is renowned as a sports capital in North America, home of the Expos major league baseball and the Canadiens in the National Hockey League. Neither is a Summer Olympics sport.

LOUIS EXAMINATION IN COURT IS OFF

DENVER (AP) — A medical examination in court for Joe Louis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, who was committed to a psychiatric hospital May 1, has been called off by agreement of attorneys.

The examination had been scheduled for Friday by a medical commission before Judge David Brofman in Denver Probate Court.

Louis was committed under a hold for treatment order issued by Judge Brofman. The order was issued at the request of Louis' son, Joseph Louis Barrow Jr., a Denver law student.

Porta Rallies For 3-2 Victory

PETERSBURG — Porta rallied with three runs in the bottom of the eighth inning to nip Pleasant Plains 3-2 in the first game of the Porta District tournament Tuesday afternoon.

Ashland takes on Virginia at 4:00 this afternoon, with the winner to face Porta for the championship Thursday.

The two teams battled through seven scoreless innings before Pleasant Plains broke the ice with a pair of unearned runs in the top of the eighth.

Rick Hohimer tripled home a pair of runs in the bottom of the eighth, then scored the winning tally on Dave Gurnsey's sharp single past second.

Bill Wesselman fanned ten and walked two in a four-hitter, as Porta captured its tenth straight win and ran its record to 15-4.

Pleasant Plains stands 0-4 on the year.

Milwaukee Fans Still Faithful

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The love affair between Milwaukee baseball fans and the Brewers is genuine, if not passionate.

After 10 home dates, the Brewers have drawn 107,702 fans, an average better than nine other major league cities and six other American League teams.

Only Boston, Detroit, New York, California and Baltimore are averaging better than Milwaukee in the AL.

Milwaukee is 30,000 ahead of last season when the Brewers—then the Pilots—drew 77,223 in the first 10 dates at Seattle.

Only five games—on four dates—have been played when the temperature climbed over 50 degrees.

Baseball fans here, hungry for a team ever since the Braves departed for Atlanta following the 1965 season, were rewarded with the Brewers only six days before the 1970 season was to open. Still, the team sold 4,000 season tickets.

Shortstop Maury Wills and centerfielder Willie Davis were in the opening day lineup for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1962 and again this spring.

ISU Signs 5th Michigan Cager

BLOOMINGTON — Illinois State University has reached into Michigan again for another young basketball giant, 6-foot-11 Ron DeVries of Detroit's Redford High school.

DeVries, an all-city athlete in both basketball and tennis, averaged 18 points and more than 20 rebounds per game last season to lead Redford to second place in the western division of the Detroit Public League.

He also shared the city tennis doubles championship as a junior and qualified for the state meet.

He is the fifth towering Michigan player to be recruited by Coach Will Robinson, who came to Illinois State after coaching Detroit Pershing to a state title two months ago.

Also in the fold from Michigan are 6-10 Steve Nelson of Battle Creek Central, 6-9 Stepey Bacon of Detroit Cooley, 6-6 Duane Fox of Inkster and 6-4 Herbert Henderson of Detroit St. Cecilia.

Still other incoming freshman basketball players at Illinois State are 6-8 Clarence Weaver, 6-7 William Westfall and 6-6 Mack Rush, all of St. Louis, Mo., Summer; 6-4 Lee House of Peoria Manual, 6-4 Kent Arends of Melvin-Sibley and 6-3 Keith McFarland of Triad High school.

Robinson gained national recognition in Detroit's prep coaching ranks for turning out such athletes as Speer Hayward, Ralph Simpson, Mel Daniels and Ire (The Large) Harge.

CHALLENGES SUIT CONCERNING DRUGS

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The San Diego Chargers' team physician is challenging a $1.25-million lawsuit filed by a player who claims he was treated with harmful drugs that turned a hip injury into a permanent disability.

Houston Ridge, 25, accused team officials and both the American and National football leagues of malpractice and conspiracy.

A demurrer and a motion to strike a conspiracy charge against him were filed by Dr. E. Paul Woodward, the team doctor. Superior Court Judge William Macomber set a hearing May 19 on the motions.

All games will be played on the YMCA ball field at 5:30 p.m. and 6:45 p.m. The Senior high division will play on Monday and Wednesday with League play beginning on Monday June 8. The Junior high division will play on Tuesday and Thursday with League play beginning on Tuesday June 9.

Denis Hulme Is Injured In Practice

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Former world auto racing champion Denis Hulme of Tauranga, New Zealand, suffered severe burns on his hands and feet Tuesday when fire erupted in the cockpit of his McLaren-Offenhauser car in a practice run at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The 1967 king of the world Grand Prix circuit had been rated one of the certain qualifiers in Saturday's opening time trials for the 54th 500-mile race May 30.

Hulme's crews said there apparently was a fuel leak but they were unable immediately to determine what caused it.

The New Zealander's car caught fire as he rounded the northeast turn. He stayed with it until he could cut the speed, then jumped out on the grass apron just before the car hit the inside retaining wall.

The car did not appear to be badly damaged. Most of the fire damage was confined to the cockpit.

He was given emergency treatment at the speedway hospital, then taken to an Indianapolis hospital where his condition was reported "generally good."

One symptom of mental weakness is that you suspect others of having the same trouble. The man with acute notrumpitis is always looking for the same disease in his partner. Hence, he keeps taking his partner out of no-trump contracts because he suspects that his partner is bidding his no-trumps when he shouldn't.

North has a book two no-trump response to his partner's diamond opening. He has 13 high card points, 4-3-3-3 distribution and preparation for the lead of any suit. True, he doesn't have a guaranteed spade stopper but that is his four-card suit and it is seldom that you have to worry about your own long suit being used as the weapon to destroy you.

Actually, there are those who would respond a spade with the North hand to look for a 4-4 spade fit, but the two no-trump meets with our complete approval.

South has no problem with his hand. He has 13 high-card points, honors in all four suits and no singleton. He should just raise to three no-trump and let his partner collect nine or ten tricks, depending on how the defense goes.

This is too simple for the victim of notrumpitis. He has a four-card spade suit and is going to bid it just in case his partner also holds four spades. He does bid three spades. North looks at his four spades and raises to the spade game. East and West take the ace of hearts and three trump tricks and the rubber goes on.

Of course, if North were also a sufferer, he would have bid three no-trump, not four spades and South would undoubtedly have given up and let North play the hand.

What do you do now?

A—Bid three no-trump. You have 13 high-card points and want to be in game. Why put pressure on your partner?

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner continues to four spades. What do you do now?

Be Careful Removing Plastic From Iron

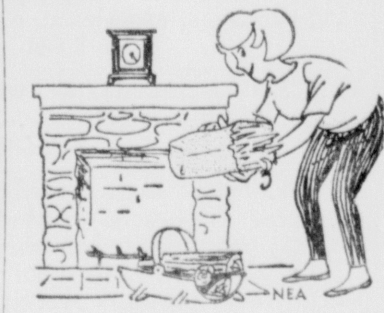

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY—I am answering "In Trouble" who ironed over a plastic bread bag which stuck to her iron. Heat the iron until slightly warm (not hot), unplug it, then use a piece of cotton saturated with lighter fluid to rub the plastic off. This worked for me. Remember lighter fluid is flammable so be very careful using it.—MRS. L.J.P.

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell "In Trouble" who has melted plastic on the sole plate of her electric iron, she should heat her iron, unplug it, set it in a tray of vinegar and the plastic will melt right off. This only takes about two minutes.—MRS. L.H.

DEAR GIRLS—I found both of these did the job but both take a bit of doing. The lighter fluid (remember the iron should be warm not hot, and unplugged) was great where the plastic was not too thick but the vinegar was better where it was quite heavy and it required a repeat performance. When the plastic was all off, I ran my hot iron over a piece of candle, then over newspaper until the wax disappeared and the bottom of the iron was nice and smooth.—POLLY

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I would like to know how to get a crease out of permanently pressed polyester double-knit material.—HAZEL

DEAR POLLY—A neat way of building a fire in the fireplace without the usual starting mess is to fill a heavy paper bag with broken and slivered kindling, lay flat in the fireplace and put a couple of logs on top of it. Light the paper sack at the bottom and you have it made—a beautiful blaze. No sweeping up of the hearth needed.—L.M.H.

DEAR READERS—When we had a coal grate, the lumps of coal were put in paper bags and kept in a container by the fireplace. A fire was made and kept going without even getting one's hands dirty.—POLLY

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Oiliness Of Skin May Be Hereditary

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Q—What causes excessive oiliness of the skin? What can be done for it?

A—Oiliness may be a hereditary trait and it may be aggravated by nervous tension. Even though the amount of oil is not increased in warm weather, active sweating will make the oiliness more noticeable. There is no drug you can take internally to control the oil but 5 per cent sulfur in a nongreasy cream will help to dry your skin. Astringent pads that can be used when it is not convenient to wash with soap and water are also available.

Q—My doctor says I have necrobiosis lioidica on my leg and that there is no cure for it. What do you think?

A—This disease is characterized by small nodules in the skin. They heal slowly, leaving scars. Most, but not all, victims have diabetes. Controlling the diabetes does not cure or prevent the disease and no effective treatment has yet been found.

Q—I am a man, 30. My doctor says I have Schamberg's disease and that it would clear up in two or three years. But I have had it since I was about 16 and it is slowly getting worse. What do you think?

A—This disease, progressive pigmentary dermatosis, is a form of hemosiderosis, a condition in which iron is stored in the skin without damaging it. It is usually limited to the legs and thighs and is characterized by patches of light brown pigmentation. There is no treatment; but since the distribution of the lesion is such that it doesn't show and since it doesn't affect your health, this isn't too important. The pigment does fade out in time but it may take many years.

Q—What can you put on a small skin cancer to dry it up?

A—Although surgical removal as soon as the cancer is discovered is still considered the best treatment by many doctors, some new drugs, obtainable only on prescription, have been used successfully. These include 5-fluorouracil, methotrexate and dichloroacetic acid. Other treatments useful in properly selected cases include freezing and radioactive isotopes.

Q—What causes trichoeplithelioma and eccrine spiradenoma? Is there any cure?

A—A trichoeplithelioma is a relatively benign form of skin cancer and an eccrine spiradenoma is a benign tumor of the sweat glands. Their cause is unknown. For the treatment see the preceding answer.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

The need for noise control was the one item on which 1,800 apartment residents unanimously agreed in a five-city survey that asked tenants what they liked and disliked about their dwellings. In the survey, conducted in Atlanta, Detroit, Minneapolis, San Francisco and Washington, D.C., by Owens-Corning, traffic, children playing, people talking and walking and doors slamming accounted for most of the outside noise reported. Plumbing, people talking and walking, door slamming and appliances were listed as major sources of inside noise. Nearly two-thirds of the renters were interested in reducing noise with sound-conditioning materials at an additional $5 a month.

Mayor Names Fact-Finding Chairmanship

Mayor Dan F. Lahey at noon Tuesday announced that he had received confirmation from Seventh-Ward Alderman Dale Brown that he would agree to serve as chairman of a special fact-finding committee to investigate and meet with nine former city linemen.

Alderman Brown suggested the action to Mayor Lahey at the close of Monday night's regular council meeting.

Lahey said Mr. Brown was the only confirmation he had received thus far, but he also expected to ask Electric committee chairman Alderman Clarence Scott to sit in on the meetings.

Lahey related that he would determine the third council member later and that he would also seek two "private citizens" to meet along with the aldermen in talking out the difficulties between the former linemen and the city.

Virginia Bond Issue Election Set Saturday

Members of the Virginia School District Citizens' Advisory Council are finalizing plans for getting information out to the voters of the district. Dick Pugh, who is serving as chairman of the speakers' committee, has already scheduled some 22 meetings of organizations where voters of the district will have an opportunity to hear first hand the details of the proposed solution to the facility problems facing the school.

Opportunities will be given for questions at all meetings. The proposition to be presented to the voters May 15 was officially enacted by resolution at the regular board of education meeting Wednesday, April 15th. This referendum climaxes nearly a year's study by a Citizens' Advisory Council. Their recommendation to the school board and the board's acceptance is now being placed before the voters.

The Council ranked the needs of the district by priorities. The following were considered as needing immediate attention and to be included in the forthcoming bond issue:
A new heating plant for grades 4-12; a new cafeteria and kitchen for grades 4-12; eight new classrooms to be constructed to the north of the present grades 4-8 building.

Also to be included in this new area would be a library which would house not only library books, reference books and magazines, but also the new teaching aids which include phonograph records, tapes, slides, film strips, and the numerous pieces of equipment which must be properly stored and serviced.

The present 4-8 building will be remodeled both inside and outside. The basic foundation and construction is very sturdy and can be used for many years in the future.

The high school industrial arts department will be brought to the present high school campus. It would be located in new facilities connected at the north-west portion to the present building.

Also to be included in the cost of the proposed referendum is the remodeling and restoring of the grade school locker and shower rooms for both the boys and girls, and the construction of a new floor in the old "gym". Some remodeling of facilities in the North Grade school (K-3) building, to include teachers' workroom and restroom facilities, is also to be covered.

Also to be included in the proposed issue is the remodeling of the present high school physical education area. This includes expansion of the gymnasium, enlarging the area for both boys' and girls' physical education classes; the construction of new locker rooms and shower room facilities for both boys and girls; and the addition of folding bleachers which will provide seating capacity for 1200 spectators.

There will be a new stage included in this area. The locker room will be west of the present area and on the ground level. Since this meant changing the north and west exterior, the determination to include this work on the gym, which was at first considered Phase II to be completed in about five years, was made on the basis of economy. It would save up to $100,000 by doing such work now.

Were it to be deferred for another five years, much work done now would have to be torn out and new walls constructed at that time. The board and the Advisory Council felt it was to the best interests of the taxpayers in the district to do that work now.

The election is Saturday, May 16th. The polls are open from noon until 7:00 p.m. The polling place is the City Hall in Virginia.

The largest Red Ash tree was found by William Van Schyndel, of Jacksonville. The circumference of that tree is 8 feet, 7 inches.

The largest American Elm tree was found in Brown County by Eugene Nichols, of Mount Sterling. The elm's circumference is 23 feet, 1 inch. Cass County claims the largest Black Walnut with a measurement of 16 feet, 1 inch. That tree was located by Mrs. Jennie Nappa, of Beardstown.

Champaign County has five of the 36 new champs. Other counties with more than one of the big trees reported since Jan. 1 are LaSalle and Sangamon, with three each.

Siemert emphasized that the big tree contest is a continuing thing. "We want to know what tree is the biggest of its kind in Illinois. If we find specimens that are big enough to rate national attention, we submit them to the American Forestry Association for judgment."

"The division of forestry presents a certificate to the person who discovers and recognizes a champion tree," Siemert said. "Our foresters check all trees nominated before they are officially recognized as champions."

"Anyone who thinks he may know where a state champion tree is located should notify the Division of Forestry, Illinois Department of Conservation, Big Tree Contest, State Office Building, Springfield, Ill. 62706," Siemert concluded.

Slate Largest Trees In State During Contest

SPRINGFIELD — The largest tree in Illinois is a sycamore 27 feet in diameter, according to Fred Siemert, state forester for the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Siemert said this giant is located in Greene County, about 4½ miles north of Eldred. Donald Moss, Eldred, found the tree, measured it, and submitted it to the Big Tree Contest sponsored by the division of forestry.

"This is the biggest sycamore we know of in Illinois, and it is the tree with the greatest diameter of any that has been called to our attention," Siemert said.

"Since the contest formally began on Jan. 1, 1970, 42 new champion trees have been found," Siemert said. "Six were dethroned shortly after they were nominated. Fourteen trees became champions automatically because they were new species. One man, William S. Brenneman, Decatur, nominated 17 of the new champions."

Morgan County claims largest trees in two categories. M. A. Wildhagen, of Woodson, found the state's largest Osage Orange tree which measures 13 feet, 5 inches in circumference.

The largest Red Ash tree was found by William Van Schyndel, of Jacksonville. The circumference of that tree is 8 feet, 7 inches.

The largest American Elm tree was found in Brown County by Eugene Nichols, of Mount Sterling. The elm's circumference is 23 feet, 1 inch. Cass County claims the largest Black Walnut with a measurement of 16 feet, 1 inch. That tree was located by Mrs. Jennie Nappa, of Beardstown.

2 Break Jail At Virginia Early Tuesday

VIRGINIA — Two young prisoners escaped early Tuesday morning from the Cass county jail here according to Sheriff Carl Wubker. An all points bulletin was issued about 6 a.m. when the break was discovered.

Sought are Allen Gustafson, Jr., of Virginia and Dale Kroening of Springfield, exact ages unavailable. Further description was not obtained other than the men had to have been pretty much soiled at the time of their escape.

Freedom was obtained by the two by cutting a hole in the floor of their cell and tunneling through the foundation of the jail. Sheriff Wubker and Deputy Bob Thompson are continuing the search for the escaped prisoners.

Cancel Audubon Trip In Favor Of Bird Walk

The May 16 spring field trip of the Morgan County Audubon Society to Barkhausen Wildlife Refuge near Chandlerville has been cancelled due to the high level of water in the area. This announcement is made by Pat Ward, field trip chairman, and George Elliott, program chairman.

In response to several requests, an early morning bird walk will be held on the Saturday morning of May 16, starting at 7:30 a.m. and lasting only till nine o'clock.

Persons interested in seeing the common spring birds and perhaps a few of the migrants will meet on the corner of Illinois College campus by Lockwood and Mound avenue. Binoculars and comfortable walking shoes will be useful.

In spite of windy weather and flooded river areas, the recent bird census undertaken by the Society resulted in over 100 species being identified. This will be more completely detailed by Miss Emma Mae Leonhard in her next two Let's Go Bird-watching columns in this paper. The Saturday morning nature walk mentioned above is open to all interested persons and will be a good opportunity for children and students to begin nature study.
